ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

"Movements in Motivation"

Following the success of our previous Personnel Conferences, and the very positive feedback from these events, SHARE and EVH are doing it again in 2009. We have decided to rename the event simply the Social Employers Conference. This is the largest event of its type in Scotland for social employers and for anyone involved in managing and leading people or for personal development.

Movement in Motivation is a blend of internationally recognized keynote speakers and practical examples of what is happening on the ground here in Scotland. Motivation, creativity, leadership are currently high on all our agendas and we know that you will find the content of the day stimulating. There is something here for everybody.

Some other great reasons to attend this Conference:

- Get practical tips and advice to improve individual and organisational performance
- Hear from HR and business gurus who are experts in their chosen fields.
- Hear from leading organisations who are tackling the same challenges as you.
- Network with people facing the same challenges as you.
- Have fun!

We hope that you will be able to join us on 17 June for what promises to be another great learning experience!

"Always a very enjoyable and informative Conference"

"First time I have attended this Conference and will definitely be back—many thanks"

Who should attend?

- ⇒ Chief Executives/Directors
- ⇒ HR Leaders/Officers
- ⇒ Senior Managers
- ⇒ Board Members with an involvement or interest in social employment issues

PROGRAMME

0930—1000 1000 Registration and Refreshments Introductions

Rod Hunter, Director SHARE

It is tempting to call for better leadership, but we probably expect too much from the leaders of the nations. Those nations are too big, the connections not strong enough, the commitment to the future not long enough. It is better to look smaller, to our now smaller organisations, to local communities and cities, to families and clusters of friends, to small networks of portfolio people with time to give to something bigger than themselves. We have to fashion our own directions in our own places" (Charles Handy)

1005—1055 Keynote: David Williams, Partnership Manager + Gareth Hexter, Director of Corporate Services, United Welsh Housing Association "Partnership at Work—the Secret to Motivation"

1055—1115 Refreshments/Networking

1115—1215 Breakout sessions - choose from:

1. Richard Thomson, co-founder TW Associates
"Creating a Motivational Environment"
2. Agnieszka Davren, Senior HR Advisor, EVH
"Engagement: A New Measure for Success" +
Heather Ballantine, SHARE Associate Trainer
"Growing excellent Customer Service"
3. Gilly Macmorrán, Managing Director, Priority Management
"Working Sm@rt"

1215—1310 Keynote: Paul Bennett, Director—Executive Development Programmes, Henley Business School "Authentic Leadership—getting the best out of your people"

1310—1400 Lunch

1400 –1430 Case Studies:

1. Clare Murray, Loreburn Housing Association
"Loreburn—where people matter"
2. Lynne Fitzpatrick, West of Scotland Housing Association
"Fit for the Future: Our Change Agenda"

1430—1515 Keynote: Dame Evelyn Glennie "Lend me your ears before you go ..."

1515—1530 Summing-up/Over to you Foster Evans, EVH

*Here's to the crazy ones. The misfits. The rebels. The trouble-makers. The round heads in the square holes. The ones who see things differently. They're not fond of rules, and they have no respect for the status-quo. You can quote them, disagree with them, glorify, or vilify them. But the only thing you can't do is ignore them— because they change things. They push the human race forward. And while some may see them as the crazy ones, we see genius. Because the people who are crazy enough to think they can change the world, are the ones who do.
(Jack Kerouac—from his book On the Road)*
